ALLEGED HF AVY DEFALCATION.

DISAFPEARANCE OF THE AGENT OF A PHILADELPHIA AND A CHIC . GO INSURANCE COMPANY-EXTENT OF THE COSSES-SUSPENSION OF THE PEOPLE'S

INSUP ANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA. Instrance circles were excited yesterday by the report of a beavy defalcation by Henry Prindle, Except of the Atlantic and Pacific Insurance Company of Chresga and the People's Insurance Company of Philahelphie. From such information as could be gleaned in the absence of the officials charged with the duty of invest gation, it appears that Henry Prindle of No. 176 Brv adway represented these companies here, and that was questioned as to the reason, but succeeded in aliaying suspicion. Recently, however, the Company suspected that all was not right, and A. S. Peck, the adjuster of the Company, was sent on to make an investigation of the New-York agency. While this investigathen was in progress Prindle appeared to have become timid, and disappeared a week ago without leaving any word as to his destination. The accounts were then more critically examined, and it was found that there was a deficit of $3,300 40 as indicated by his true accounts. This sum he is alleged to have abstracted in the course of a year.

This, however, was very trifling when compared with the loss which the People's Insurance Company of Philadelphia (suffered as will be observed in the following dispatch from that city :

The People's Fire Insurance Company of this city has suspended. A notice on the door says: "Information having been received that the manager and treasurer of the Company has left for parts unknown, it is deemed advisable to suspend all further business.

This Company, it is alleged, was doing business in this State without.

State without having complied with the laws, and Prindle had full charge. In his official capacity he secumulated large sums of money, and at the time he left was understood to have been indebted to it for between $60,000 and $100,000, a large portion of which was

As seen as the fact of his disappearance became known suit was begun against the People's Company, and attachments issued in behalf of several creditors as follows: William T. Lamb. $750; William H. Helmbold, $250; Spectator (Insurance Journal) Company, $2.014; Le Grand Morris of Monticello, $800; for loss by fire against which he had insured in the People's Company.

The attachments are issued on affidavits that People's Company is non-resident of New-York, and has no attorney or agent here upon whom a process can be served. It is alleged that the Company was not legally empowered to do business here, and that any contracts they may have made were illegal and void, and that there can be little or no re-dress. Prindle's statement, if he has any to make, is called, and expected to remain until the execution was removed. Representatives of the People's Company are here investigating affairs.

THE PRESIDENT'S ASTONISHMENT.

From The Philade-phia Econing Telegraph, July 28.

The People's Fire Insurance Company was incorporated March 15, 1859, and set out in business on the following July. According to the last report of the Insurance Commissioners of this State its status at the 1873 was as follows, the cash capital being put at

Liabilities, not including capital	53.360	50
Total nabilities	253,360	50
The income during 1873 was as follows: From fire premiums From interest on investments	$59.764	28 00
The expenditures during the same time	were:
Amount tand for losses.	45,476	77
Total expenses.	$71,672 A.Mr. Po	00

The Company was put in the bands of a Mr. Faul, who is said to have suddenly left for Europe, never returning. Mr. Henry Coggshall, since dead, then took hold of it, and transferred his interest after two years to George Helmbold, who in turn was succeeded by Win. Bird and George Messinger. About a year of so ago H. Prindie entered it, becoming the main stockholder, and the present Company was formed, consisting of D. Rodney King, President; John C. Hinds, Secretary; with a "Manager and Treasurer," whose mane is one of those matters which no fellow at present can find out; at any rate it has been a matter of impossibility to find it out this morning. Neither is it possible to ascertain whether the Company had a Board of Directors.

Failing to be admitted to the presence of Mr. Hinds, and the other officials being then closeted in the tightly closed office, our reporter made his way to the residence of Mr. King, No. 1512 Pine-st., who received him pleasantly, and the other odderate and make his own infeferences.

from which the reader can make as was marked to the Reporter-The manager and treasurer having absconded, can you tell me who is?

Mr. King-I am astounded that Mr. Hinds should have token this action without consulting me.

Reporter-Then you know nothing of this affor?

Mr. King-No, sir. I have been very ill, and only a short time from the seashore. I have not been to the office in six weeks. I am surprised, astonished that this step should have been taken. Mr. Hinds should have at once consulted me. for I am not content to stand the mere figure-head of that concern.

Reporter-Shall I say, then, that the decree of supension by Mr. Hinds is entirely without your knowledge and authority?

dge and authority t Mr. King—Yes, sir; I say that at least. Reporter—If there is such an officer, is that officer Mr.

Mr. King-I cannot say; Mr. Prindle is the largest holder of stock in the Company, and lives at No. 176 Broadway, New-York. Reporter—Can you give me the names of the directors of the Company?

Mr. King-Weil, no; we intended to have an election soon; the Board is far from being full. This is a singular proceeding on Mr. Hinds's part; he knew I was here, and to announce the suspension without consulting me-it's an outrage!

BARNUM'S BALLOON ON ITS TRAVELS. Despite the fierce wind which blew yesterday, the balloon "Barnum" made its second ascension as was promised. A large audience witnessed the start from the Hippodrome grounds, and Madison-square and the adjoining streets were througed with people. House tops, wagons, and every other available point of observation were seized and occupied. Mr. Donaldson finished inflating the vessel at 8:30 p. m., and at 4:30 the basket was ready for its passengers. In response to the aeronaut's cry of "All aboard," a representative of Appletons' Journal, a daughter D. S. Thomas, the Hippodrome Press Agent, and three other persons, stepped into the basket. The bags of sand were then unbooked from the ropes, and after a moment, Donaldson shouted, "Let go all," and the air-ship bounded upward. The instant the great bag passed beyond the sheltering canvas the strong north-westerly wind caught it, and the basket narrowly escaped striking the roofs of several buildings in the vicinity. The vessel swayed violently for a any in the vicinity. In evessel ewayed violently for a few seconds, but quickly righting, shot rapidly upward about 2,000 feet. For about 20 minutes the balloon re-mained in sight, ascending with rapidity, and moving in a north-westerly direction. The only female passenger who started on the voyage-Miss Thomas—is only 13 years old, and she appeared to be the least agitated of the party. Finday's ascension will be made in the small balloon, and Donaldson will go alone.

AFFRAY IN A BAR-ROOM.

Hugh Gerity, age 24, of No. 578 West Twenty-ninth-st., entered a liquor saloon at No. 302 Eleventh-ave. yesterday afternoon, and asked the proprietor, Bernhard Jacobson, to trust him for payment of a glass of liquor. Jacobson refused and said that all his customers paid for liquor when they drank it. A quarrel then arose between the two men. Gerity be came greatly enraged, and finally selzed an ice-pitcher from the counter and buried it at Jacobson, who dodged the missile. Gerity then attempted to epring over the counter and attack his antagonist. Jacobson pushed him back, and then pulling a large, navy revolver from beneath the counter fired at the man. The bullet from beneath the counter free at the man. The bullet entered the left side of Gerity's neck, passed through, and lodged in the door. A patrolman of the Twentieth Precinct Police heard the report of the pistol and entering the saloon arrested Jacobson. Gerity accompanied the officer to the station-house, and there had his wound dressed. The surgeon declared that the bullet had not pierced any large vein or arrery in its passage through Gerity's neck, and that the wound was not dangerous. Gerity refused to make any complaint grainst Jacobson, and was taken to the Jefferson Market Police station with the prisoner.

A CHILD CONVICT.

As Alderman Richardson of Brooklyn was passing through the Kings County Penttentiary last Bunday, he observed a little boy not over eight years of age marching in the file of convicts. So touched was he by the eight that he resolved to have the boy liberated and placed in safe hands. Investigation proved that the child's name was Stephen Markham, that he wagon, having no other shelter. He had been arrested ernor. He might then also make public his reasons for . a remark put Les destendes de jant fe ba jantes | the feathouriment of the Lance Commissioners and me

Mayor Hunter subsequently committed the boy to the Truant Home, and severely condemned the action of the magistrate who had sent him to the Peni-tentiary.

SANITARY DEFECTS.

STREET-CLEANING INSPECTIONS BY THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS - PARTIAL FAILURE OF THE PLAN FOR REMOVING GARBAGE AND ASHES SEP-

ARATELY. The Police Commissioners are making a tour of inspection of the city to view the work of the Street-Cleaning Bureau, and to ascertain whether or not it is conducted with as much economy and energy as is consistent with a due regard for the public service. They have now inspected the force employed in the First, second, Third and Fifth Wards. In the main they have found the work fairly performed, although there are some things that need to be corrected. The Commisoners propose to make their personal inspection throughout the city rigid and exacting. The statements that the Commissioners contemplate letting a considerable portion of the street cleaning by contract to pri vate persons, and that certain bids are under consideration, are characterized by them as without foundation. There may be modifications of the present system, but

The following interesting report in relation to the partial failure of the plan to have the ashes and carbage of every household removed in separate carts and a different hours of the day, was received and ordered to sent to the Board of Police, who have charge of the derelict Street-Cleaning Department:

dereitet Street-Cleaning Department:

The Sanitary Committee respectfully report that on the 28th of April, 1874, this Board directed the enforcement of the ordinance requiring bousekeepers to separate aslies and garbace. This action was taken at the request of the President of the Board of Police, who stated that the Street-Cleaning Bureau was prepared to thoroughly perform the part of providing separate carts. This Board proceeded at once to issue notice to housekeepers to the effect that the ordinance requiring housekeepers to exparate the ashes and garbage would be enforced after a given date. Large numbers of people complied with the notice, and against those who did not suits were ordered to be begun. How far the Street-Cleaning Department performed its part of the be enforced after a given date. Large numbers of people compiled with the notice, and against those who did not suits were ordered to be began. How far the Street-Cleaning Department performed its part of the work is not known to the Committee; but constant complaints are made by residents that though they have purchased two vessels and carefully separated the ashes and garbage, only one cart is provided and receives the contents of both vessels. They consequently severely censare the Board of Health for requiring them to obtain two garbage vessels, and separate the garbage from the ashes when the cartman does not discriminate, but again mixes them in his cart. The proper care and disposition of house refuse has always been a matter of deep concern to this Board. It has constantly recognized the fact that the air of the city, and especially that of the domiciles of the poor is more liable to contamination from this source than any other. All the ordinances of the Board relating to this material have aimed to secure its prompt removal from the house and from the city in the least offensive manner and its proper utilization.

In the execution of any plan for the care of garbage that part which involves its removal from the premises and from the city must, under the present laws, be performed by the Burcau of Street Cleaning. Unfortunately for the reputation of this Board, community holds it responsible for the execution in all its details of the removal of garbage, and hence it happens that when the Burcau of Street Cleaning to improve its methods of work by the separation of the ashes and garbage, this Board, on application of the President of the Board of Police, undertook in good fain to enforce its ordinances, and time perform its part of the early and perform its part of the contract. It is very unwise and performing its part of the contract. It is very unwise as well as injust for the Board of Health to compel the people to be to the fromble and expense of separating the ashes and garbage, if the cartman is he usines and garbage, it the careman is allowed to his hem again in the act of removal. The Committee recommend the adoption of the follow-ing resolutions: Resolved, That the Beard of Police be and is hereby respectfully re-

Sanitary Superintendent Day informed the Board of Health yesterday that the Sanitary Inspectors had inspected 2,237 buildings in search of nuisances during the past week. This number embraced 4 public buildother dwellings, 25 manufactories, 30 stores, 18 stables, 31 slaughter-houses, 3 manure dumps, 11 fat rendering factories, 56 court-yards, and 71 ceilars. The Districting Corps had disinfected 57 premises, wherin contagious diseases were prevailing, and disinfected 48 houses. They also disinfected 11 miles of street gutters. Three markets-Washington, Catherine and Faiton Markets-were disinfected.

COMPLETION OF ST. THOMAS CHURCH.

The tower of St. Thomas Church, at Fifthave. and Fifty-third-st. is nearly completed; a few fin ishing touches to the surface alone remain to be made. The plans according to which the edifice has been built were prepared by Richard Unjohn, who spent much labor on them with the intention that they should be among his best works. The tower was begun a year ago. Like the rest of the structure, it is of Newark sandstone. Its extreme hight will be 208 feet. The belfry tower is open parapet, with a pinnacle at each angle. The windows are deeply recessed, have louvres, and are decorated with crocketed gables. Above this rises an octagon lantern tower, 18 feet in diameter and 23 feet high. The buttresses of the two towers are united by flying buttresses. Each of the cardinat faces has a window, gabled and richly cardinai faces has a window, gabled and richly ornamented. Beyond this tower is a spire 36 feet high, which is topped with a gilded cross. The whole tower has cost $50,00. From the beliry windows a line view of the city and surrounding country may be had. St. Botolph's Church, at Boston, England, built in the fifteenth century, is the only other house of worship that ever bore a lantern tower. The latter church was once used as a likithouse for the preservation of ships coasting Lincolnshire. The church was presented with a chime of ten bells by T. H. Waiter, a member, as a memorial of his father. They were manufactured at West Troy, and their aggregate weight is between 10,000 and 11,000 pounds.

LORD & TAYLOR'S NEW STATIONERY DEPART-

MENT. The constant new ventures of Lord & Taylor toto fresher branches of commerce and industry excite no little speculation and surprise. A boot and shoe department was the last, and now their most recent novelty is a stationery and engraving department for the accommodation of their customers who need elegant stationery or artistic engraving. The imported stationery of rare and delicate tints is embellished with crests, monograms, arms, &c., in infinite variety, in over 300 shades and shapes. Their wedding stationery should attract especial attention, as it will be their specialty. They have on their premises a large their specialty. They have on their premises a large corps of engravers, etampers, filiuminators, and printers, each man being a skilled workman. This department is under the exclusive control of Mr. Hermance Tremper, an artist engraver of considerable repute, who gives his personal attention to the details of every order. Having made monegrams and heraldry a careful study, and having access to the best European works, Mr. Tremper is prepared to show finished designs for approval at short notice. Their new styles of wedding and other invitations will be copyrighted, and an inspection will prove them in elegance of engraving and other requisites well worthy of public patronage.

Dr. Elisha Harris, Registrar of Vital Statistics, reported that there were 873 deaths reported last week, against 790 reported and 824 deaths which actually occurred the previous week. The increase in the death rate occurred among infants under 2 years of age. The mortality the past formight had remained steadily at an average of 115 deaths daily, or equivalent to a yearly death rate of 44.12 per 1,000 inhabitants. The deaths of infants under 2 years of age constituted 60 per cent, or three-fifths of the total mortality; while over 70 per cent of the infant deaths were charged to diarrheal discases. There was a falling off in the number of deaths attributed to the direct effects of the heat, and to disattributed to the direct effects of the heat, and to dis-eases of the brain and nervous system. The excessive ratio of infant mortality, the increase of diphtheria from 24 to 31 fatal cases, and no increase in the total mortality of persons over 5 years of age, were marked charac-teristics of each of the past three weeks. On July 3 only 48 deaths occurred in the city, a day of the least mor-tality for several years. On July 15 there were 144 deaths—probably the largest number that will occur is any day in the year. The chief source of the fatality among the infants was due to the impurity of the air in tenement houses. It would be a wise measure, conse-quently, for poor mothers to take their children daily to the parks.

THE MAYOR KEEPS SILENCE

Notwithstanding the statement of Gov. Dix that he had no objection to the publication by the Mayor of the answer made to the Governor to the charges preferred against him, the Mayor declines to do so. The Mayor says it would not be treating the Gov. ernor with proper courtesy to give the answer in advance of the decision in the case, and be will, therefore, on no account make public his answer. THE BORDER TROUBLES.

THE KIOWAS AND COMANCHES MORE DARING AND UNRULY THAN EVER-OFFICIAL REPORT OF MUR-

DERS AND OUTRAGES. Washington, July 28 .- Gen. Meigs forwards to the Secretary of War extracts from the an nual report of Capt. A. G. Robinson, Assistant Quarter-master at Fort Stil, giving a description of the country south and west of Fort Sill, and of a march of 400 miles by seven companies of cavalry. In speaking of In-by seven companies of cavalry. In speaking of indians, the report says:

The Kiowas and Comanches have not reformed, whatever the statements of their agents, but, on the contrary, were never more daring than during the past year.
They have constantly raided in Texas, murdering inhabitants and driving off cattle, and twice recently, within a month, have run off the stock from their agency or military reservation near the post. One night to June they made a dash for the corral gates opened to receive the night police waron, but receiving a veiley from us they approached the guard without,
and finding another guard within the corral, thus placing them between two fires, they beat a hasty retreat, and have not since paid their respects. Lone Wolf recently crossed the Indian Reservation with the horses of a company of the 9th Cavalry, which he succeeded in stampeding near Fort Griffin, Texas. Since this, permission has been given to pursue raiding parties on the reservations, which will have a tendency to check such exploits hereafter.

OPINION THAT A GENERAL WAR WILL BE AVERTED

OPINION THAT A GENERAL WAR WILL BE AVERTED -AN EXCELLENT STATE OF FEELING EXISTING AMONG THE NORTHERN MONTANA INDIANS.

Washington, July 28.—Commissioner Smith as received a report from J. M. Haworth of the Kiowa and Comanche Agency, dated the 21st of July, in which he says:

Since my last report, the Indians whom I sent to the Comanche camps have returned, with information that 12 or 13 chiefs were coming in with portions of their bands. Some of the others were disposed to remain in a hostile attitude. As yet I cannot give numbers, but presume the tribe will be divided, nearly half coming in. Of the Kiowas, Napanat, the high priest or chief medicine man, without whose sanctioning favor they do not like to go into war, came in two days ago to assure me of his continued friendship, and has taken his stand on the side of peace. I felt conflicient that such would be his course. Over 250 lodges of the Kiowas are now cheamped on the side of peace, including all, or nearly all the principal chiefs, Line Wolf excepted, and it is elaimed that he is now encamped almost alone at some point near the Antelope Hills. So far as the Kiowas are concerned, i do not think the war will amount to much. If the Comanches who desire to remain peaceable and loval to the Government come in, I believe everything of a general nature will yet be averted, unless some accident happens.

We are still having many rumors and reports, but as yet nothing has been done on this reservation since the man was killed at the woodchopper's camp, heretofore

We are still having many rumors and reports, but as yet nothing has been done on this reservation since the man was killed at the woodchopper's camp, heretofore reported. We have a report of a fight in Texas, near Jacksboro, between Indians and rangers. In which the latter were whipped, two being killed. I cannot tell how true it may be. I have worked hard, and not left a stone unturned, and hope war may be averted, and believe it will be. I have not told them what course I thought the Washington Government would take, or given any promise to the guilty.

In towarding this Engel Hong says: In forwarding this Euch Hong says:

In fact, 250 lodges must include nearly the whole tribe of the Klowas.

W. H. Alderson, United States Indian Agent at the Mill River Agency, at Fort Peck, Northern Montana, under date of July 1, in submitting his report for June to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, represents an excellent state of feeling existing on the part of the Indians under his charge, who have during the month just passed, to the number of 1,000 lodges, been en-

As this is the season of the year when they usually go to war with their enemies. I took opportunity at the last council to uree upon the chiefs and head men for their own peace and safety, also their own pecuniary interests with the Government, to retrain from outlining and encouraging war parties. They sincerely and honestly promised to follow my advice, without a dissenting voice. However, on the night of the 28th ult., a party numbering 25 young men stole away from the man camp, under cover of the night, and started out on the war-path. It had no sooner become known, however, to the main camp than a "new soldier lodge" was immediately formed, who proceeded at once to cut up and destroy all the lodges, comprising outfit and other property, belonging to those ungovernable and headstrong young warnors who the night previous had so unceremonlously started out in great glee as a war party.

St. Louis, July 28.-A special dispatch to The Democrat from Fort Union, N. M., says a band of 50 Klowa and Comanche Indians killed five men near the mouth of Ure Creek, 20 miles south of Fort Bascom, on July 21. No particulars of the affair have been re-ceived.

THE TRIAL OF EX-SENATOR POMEROY.

COUNSEL IN COURT - EXPECTATION THAT A CHANGE OF VENUE WILL BE ASKED-THE QUES-TION OF A CONTINUANCE NOT YET DECIDED.

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 28 .- In the course of an article on the Pomeroy case this morning. The Com-

The counsel for the defense took occasion to intimate that, at the conclusion of the argument of the motion to quash, provided that motion should be overruled, they would ask for a continuance on the ground of the unavoidable absence of material witnesses. We do not think it the right of the defense to ask this continuance, further delay. It was on this express condition, any agreed to by Mr. Martin, that Mr. Ryan withdrew his objection to the postponement. Mr. Martin and his colleagues have had the interval in which to get themselves in readiness to proceed, and any further dilatory request will not only be in the nature of trifling with the court. but highly detrimental to the interests of their chent. This case has long enough occupied the attention of the court and the people. It will have cost, if proceeded with now, when concluded, not less than $20,000, which comes out of the pockets of the tax-payers of this country. Mr. Pomeroy has always enjoyed enough of favors from the court, and any further demands upon it will be treapassing on its ample good nature. He is entitled to a fair time and opportunity to arrange his defense, but he has already been accorded that in full measure, and beyond that he stands upon the same footing as the humblest cluzen arrangened for the most vental offense, and should stand his trial now. If he is not ready it is fair to surmise he never will be nearer to being prepared.

When the Court convened Gen. Stringfellow, of the counsel for Pomerov, invited attention to this article, claiming that it was an attempt to prejudice the case, and as such deserved public reprobation and the censure of the court. Gen. Stringfellow proceeded at some length to express his views on the liberty of the press, and when he had concluded, the Judge took occasion to say that The Commonwealth article was ill advised and unfortunate, and that he hoped such an offense against propriety would not be repeated. It is supposed by a great many that this little episode was preliminary to asking for a change of venue, on account of local prejudice, but the general opinion still is, that the best move for the defense is to seek a continuance to the next term, which would earry the case over the term of the present County Attorney, and give a chance for the election of a successor to him, who could be prevailed upon to enter Pomeroy affects to be anxious for a trial, but his general conduct and that of prominent friends is not calculated to give his assertion credence. They have had the case postponed three times, and have been busy for months getting up petitions to the County Attorney to enter a nolle prosequi. They even secured the name of Co! York to one of these petitions, together with those of the most prominent anti-Pomeroy men in the State; but the County Attorney resolutely declines to be a party to any such proceeding, and declares that he will never give up the prosecution until Pomeroy is in the Penitentiary. The Commonwealth of to-morrow morning will verify the assertions which so vexed Gen. Stringfellow, and will add that the facts go to show that the purpose of Mr. Pomeroy's counsel is to "sweat the case out of court by delays and continuances. The argument on the motion to quash the indictment has occupied the attention of the Court all day. It is generally believed that the motion will be decied, and the application for a continuance be promptly entered by the defense. The trial is exciting considerable interest. the court-room being crowded by people from all parts of the State. Congressman Cobb, a witness in the case, s the only one of the Congressional delegation present.

If it were possible for me to advocate a third term for any man, that advocacy certainly could not be given to one whose success would continue in power, for four years longer, the party whose putiless measures have brought sorrow and ruin to our people and irreprable damage to our free institutions. And, if, while endeavoring to do no act, and after no word which would needlessly provoke hostality, nor to furnish any excuses for longer withholding from our people all the rights and privileges guaranteed by the Constitution, I should, as a representative of Georgia, fail to impress the representatives of other sections with the conviction that the South is unalterably devoted to the great principles of Government advocated by the Democratic party, and that she is wedded to the belief that liberty can be preserved only by the recitablishment of those principles, as the permanent policy of the Government—then shalf I esteem myself as being unworthy of the high compliment you pay me and utterly failing to meet the obligations of the sacred trust committed to me. It is possible that I may exaggerate the danger of breaking a precedent which the example of Washington has clothed with the sanctity of law, but if a third term were proposed for a Democratic President whom I regard as pure as Cato and as self-sacrificing as Doria, still I should feel that devotion to a Democratic leader had betrayed us, into a step which would tend to the flual subversion effour democratic unstitutions. In conclusion, permit me to say, that with union and discretion in our ranks, indeed without some egregious blunder, we have the best grounds for the most sanguine hopes of success in the next Presidential election.
